

The Advocate Update

November 4, 2020

1st 2020-2021 Quarterly Update

This has been a difficult quarter for our community, but for us at CASA, thanks to you and your support, we were able to continue to thrive, grow, and keep showing up for our youth. Thank you for making this possible.

National CASAGAL Virtual Conference 2020 Video

National CASA recorded Advocates and staff all over the country sharing how they have stayed in contact with children during the pandemic.

Unadopted. KQED Truly CA

What does it mean to be Unadopted? That's what Noel Anaya sets out to discover after reading a copy of his foster care file. Follow Noel in his quest for answers about his family and his experience in the foster care system. The story intertwaves Noel's own journey with three other teens who, like so many foster youth, are at an emotional crossroad that may impact the rest of their lives: whether to emancipate from the foster care system, opt into extended care, or pursue a forever family.

(The new Birthday Cakes & Treats)

Cakes with Care provides baked goods free of charge to financially and socially disadvantaged children such as foster youth and seniors through partnerships with local agencies to exemplify care and promote joy within our community.

If you or someone you know cannot afford a birthday cake for a child or senior, we can help!

Cakes with Care

Cakes with Care has officially reopened! They have been providing CASA children and youth with free birthday cakes for a while now, and we're so happy that they have safely reopened. Click on their flyer to find out how you can preorder a free birthday cake for your CASA kiddo, and see how they're following U.S. Food & Drug Administration protocols to keep their bakers and recipients healthy during these unprecedented times.

Supporting Children Returning to Remote Learning

Kids in Santa Cruz County are going back to school in the most difficult time of their lives. The impact of COVID-19 and the wildfires are causing severe detriment to the education of the youth of our community. But there is a lot our advocates can do. Visit our website by clicking "Learn More" to see how you can help support children during remote learning.

Is your CASA child or youth having a hard time engaging while we shelter in place? With the help of advocates, CASA put together a list of resource parents and activities for you to share with resource parents or try out on your own. We're constantly updating it so check back often and let us know if there are other resources not yet stated in our list!

COVID-19 Resources and Information

The Santa Cruz County Office of Education has a webpage dedicated as a resource for families and school administrators regarding the Coronavirus (COVID-19). This is a live page, so updates and school closure information will be posted on this page periodically. Visit them at <https://santacruzcoe.org/superintendent/health-and-wellness/coronavirus/> to learn more about everything from to wifi and free lunch locations.

CONTINUING EDUCATION

Continuing Education Google Calendar

Check out our brand new Google calendar full of continuing education and development opportunities. Our CASA supervisors are regularly updating it, so check back often for newly added webinars and events.

Neurobiology of Trauma (Trauma Transformed)

An Overview of Trauma: Trauma-Informed Practices - Relationship-Based Approaches that Support Healing and Build Resilience in Children

Trauma-Informed Practices module provides an overview on the neurobiology of trauma, the impact of toxic stress on a child and adult, the Adverse Childhood Experiences Study (ACES) and neuroplasticity. Participants will walk away understanding the difference between a challenging behavior and trauma trigger.

Learning Goals:

- Learn the neurobiology of the brain and the impact on the brain, hormones and behavior of young children.
- Learn the research from the Kaiser Permanente and CDC ACE's study on the impact of childhood trauma on health outcomes in adulthood.
 - Explore assessment tools for identification of trauma.
- Learn key strategies to support healing and building resilience such as parent-child engagement, creating a safe place, environment strategies, social-emotional and sensory strategies and finally, self-regulation skills.

Date: November 18, 2020
Time: 1:30pm - 4:30pm

The Real Word Reunion Speakers Panel

Virtual presentation open to the public - RSVP today

Featuring special guest moderator, Emmy-winning journalist and co-founder of OZY Media, Carlos Watson

Celebrating 40 years of child advocacy at Voices for Children

Have you ever wondered what life is really like for a child in foster care? The Real Word is a panel comprised of individuals who have spent time in foster care after being abused, neglected, or abandoned by their parents or caregivers. The "Reunion" panel will feature Real Word alumni who will look back at their experiences in foster care, and the ways in which their Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASAs) impacted their lives.

Tuesday, November 17 5:00 - 6:15 PM
Virtual Event (Zoom info provided upon registration)

Emmy award-winning journalist and co-founder of OZY Media, Carlos Watson, will guide a discussion with panelists about their childhood, life since foster care, and the things that have helped them overcome their circumstances and find hope.

RSVP online at www.speakupnow.org/real-word

Free & open to the public. Ages 18+ only (not appropriate for children).

Voices for Children will be hosting a special "reunion edition" of their Real Word Speakers Panel of current and former foster youth on November 17. Four alumni of the panel, who are now adults with careers and families, will look back on their time in foster care and the experiences and people who shaped their lives, including their CASAs. It will be a special way to hear about the long-term impact of a CASA, directly from the people who are benefited from CASA advocacy.

To add a cherry on top, the panel will be moderated by Carlos Watson, Emmy-winning journalist and co-founder of OZY media.
